

Bravery & Love

ARRTapalooza 2015, Heather Booth

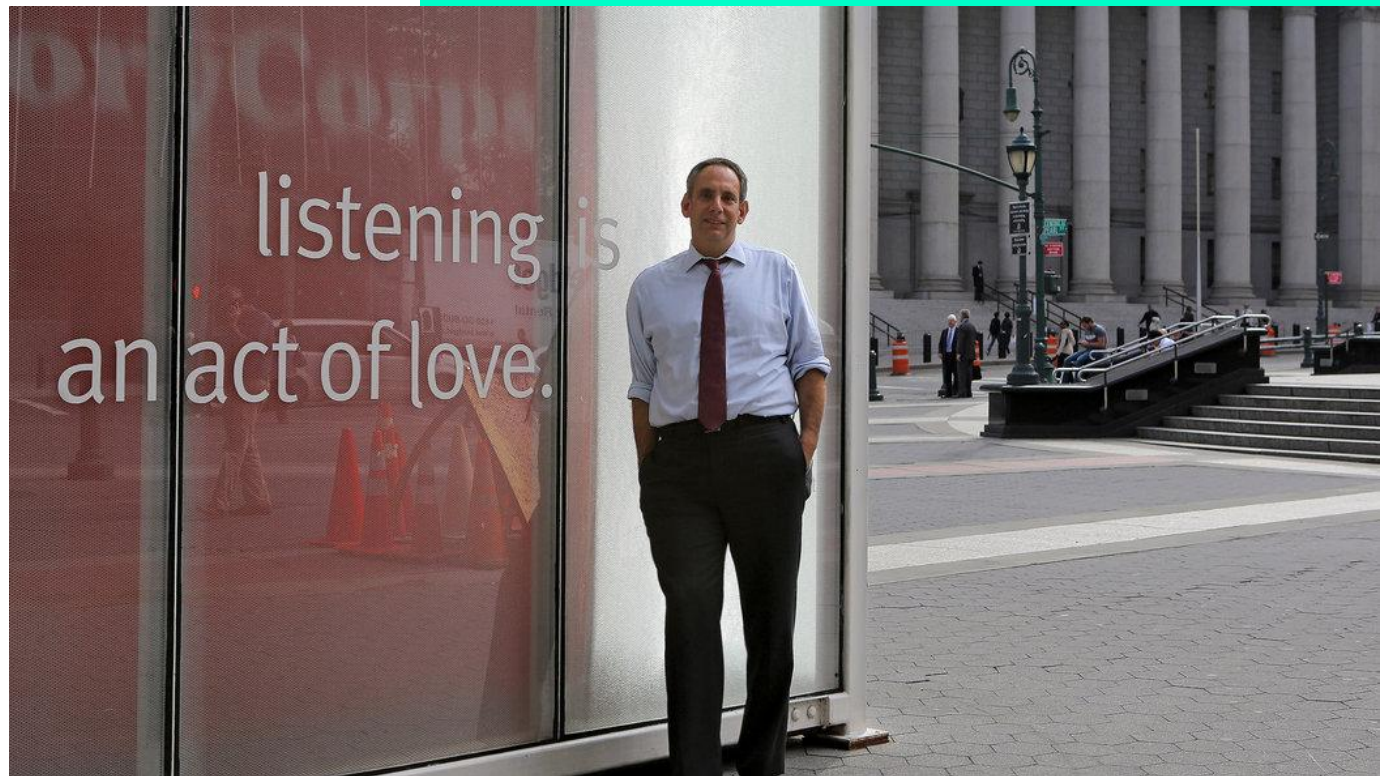

We trust you implicitly.

15

Dave Isay of StoryCorps

What is the most valuable piece
of advice you would give
to a 15 year old?

Be Brave.

Be Brave.
Or pretend you're brave.

Be Brave.

Or pretend you're brave.

Because no one knows the difference.

Be Brave.

Or pretend you're brave.

Because no one knows the difference.

And eventually, you won't either.

I ATE A POT COOKIE IN HIGH SCHOOL, BUT THERE WASN'T EVEN ANY POT IN IT.

SO... YOU ATE A COOKIE IN HIGH SCHOOL?

#PORTLANDIA

PORTLANDIA

—
LFC

Everything is Epic

44' over the Georgian Bay,
Ontario,
1996

Be Brave.

Or pretend you're brave.

Because no one knows the difference.

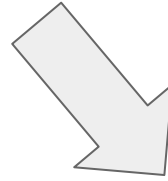

And eventually, you won't either.

-Jim Booth, Heather's dad

Listening is an Act
of Love

Asking is an Act
of Bravery

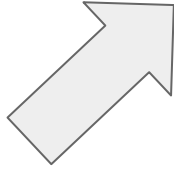

Act
Brave

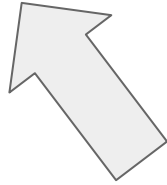

Ask

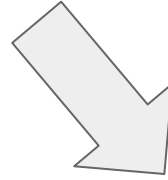

Be
heard

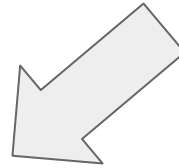

Get love

Become Brave

Ask

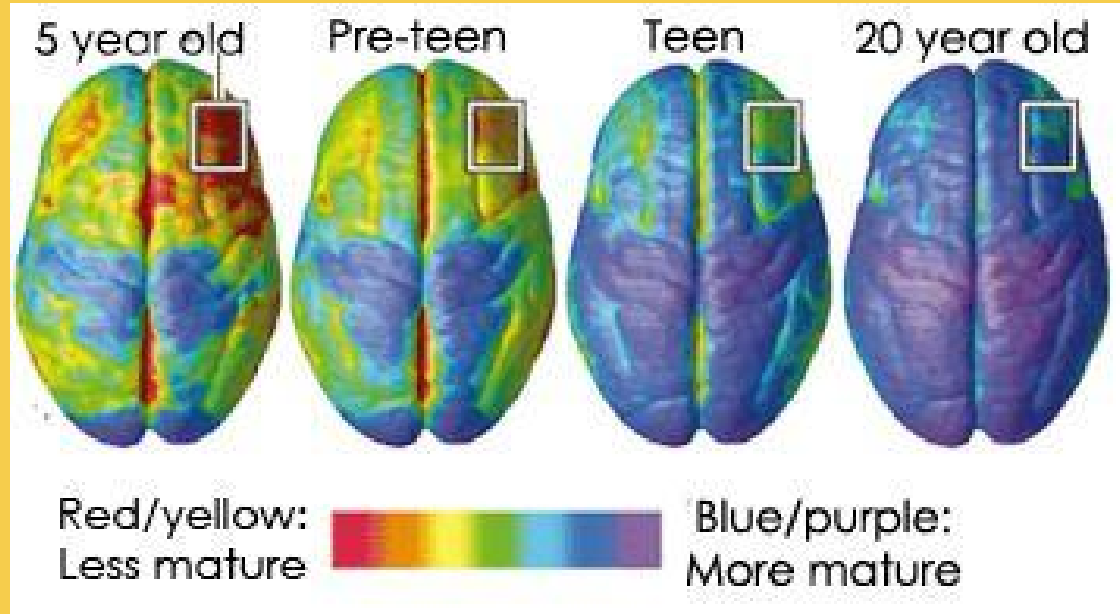

Be
heard

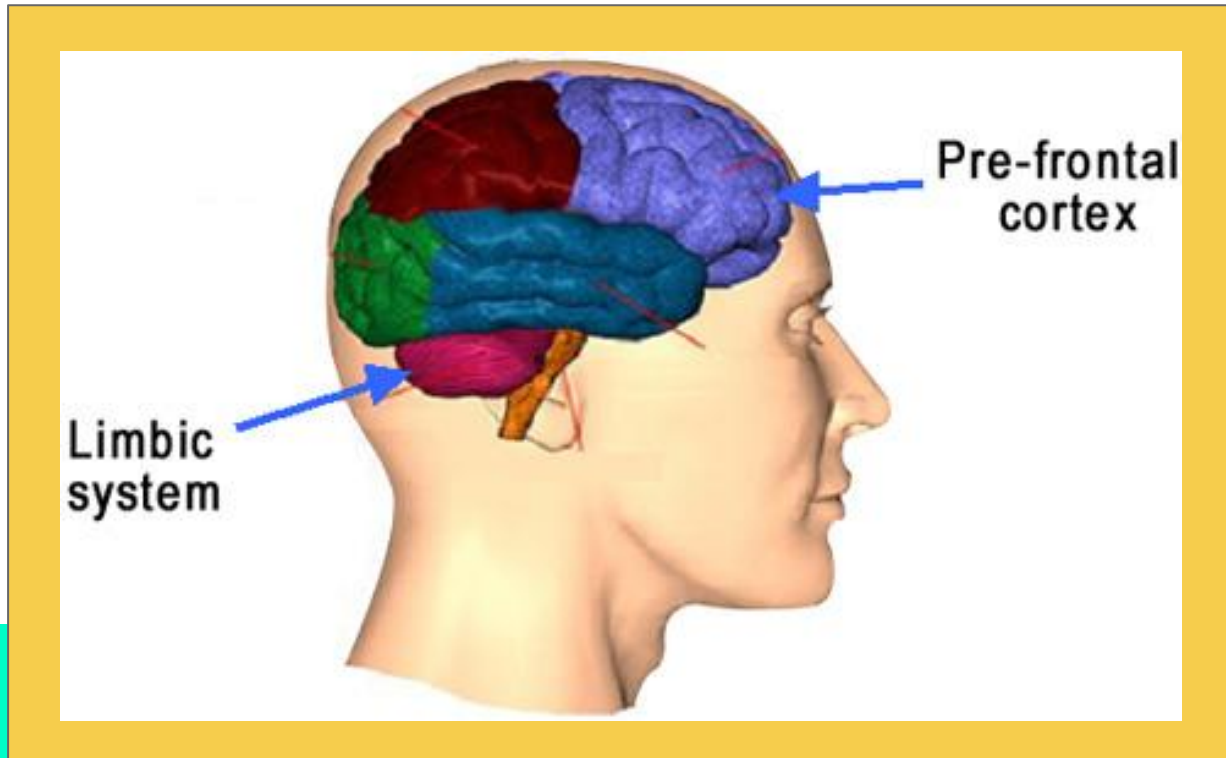

Get love

Brains!

Brains!

The Teen Librarian would LOVE to
read these books,
but doesn't have
time right now.

So YOU should!

Then let us know what you think! Fill out an anonymous book review form and leave it at the Reference Desk.

Book Title:
Author:
Star Rating: ★ ★ ★ ★ ★
What you learned about it:

CELEBRATE LGBT
HERITAGE MONTH

For additional works on the LGBT
community and experience,
see call number 301.4157

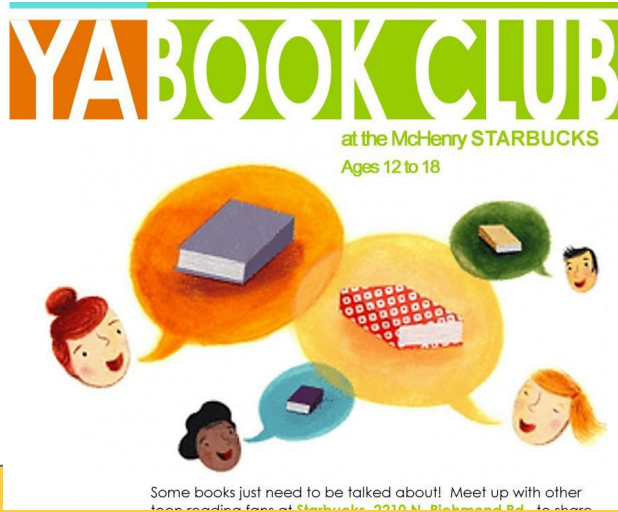

IF YOU
LIKE THIS

TRY
THIS

Small Displays

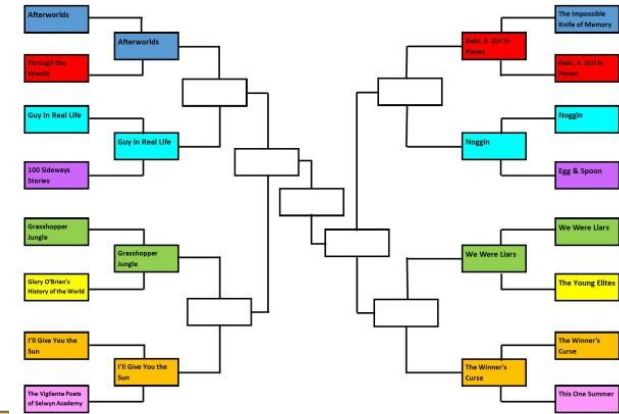

Lunchtime Booktalks

Wednesdays

in the
Library Media Center

9/25	Romance
10/2	Science Fiction
10/9	Sports
10/16	Zombies & Vampires
10/23	Adventure
10/30	Horror

All Lunch Shifts

Getting out from behind the desk

Be brave (or pretend)

